

Ramblin' Man

(Rusty Stone, 2020)

From north to south from east to west
Like a gypsy I can't rest
On the road till the end
Still in search for my wonderland

Chorus

I'm travellin' day by day
Down life's long highway
Sometimes it's hard to understand
But I was born a ramblin' man

I'm getting close to the grave each day
Rollin' and tumblin' my lonesome way
I'm still lookin' for lovely company
Somebody who likes to walk with me

Chorus

I'm travellin' day by day
Down life's long highway
Sometimes it's hard to understand
But I was born a ramblin' man

I'm on the way to another town
I'm sick and tired of hangin' around
Another city in another light
Downtown bars and drunken nights

Chorus

I'm travellin' day by day
Down life's long highway
Sometimes it's hard to understand
But I was born a ramblin' man

Every night I lay my body down
I'm givin' up this ramblin' round
My empty arms just leave me blue
And I find my way back home to you

Chorus

I'm travellin' day by day
Down life's long highway
Sometimes it's hard to understand
But I was born a ramblin' man
